Annual High School Banquet Held In Lions Hall

The eighth annual Didsbury high school graduation banquet was held in the Lions hall, May 7. The delicious turkey supper was served by Mrs. Kimmitt and the grade eleven girls, to approximately 100 guests. The graduates were: Eileen Dageforde, Mary Good, Ronald Hayne, Gathel Kiersgaard, Alta Mae Oke, Loretta Reiffenstein, Gordon Robertson, Laverne Traub and Beverly Wiggins.

The entertainment was as follows: Invocation by Alta Mae Oke, followed by the banquet. Toasts were made as follows:

To the Queen and toastmaster's remarks by Gordon Robertson; to the graduates, by Evelyn Stauffer, responded to by Laverne Traub; Valedictory address by Beverly Wiggins; to our staff by Mary Good, responded to by Mr. George Law; to our parents by Eileen Dageforde, responded to by Alex Robertson; acknowledgements by Gathel Kiersgaard.

During the toasts a piano duet was given by Loretta Reiffenstein and Laverne Traub and a vocal trio, Alta Mae Oke, Mary Good and June Sherrick rendered a number.

The eighth annual high school banquet marked the end of a large number of high school social events held in the Lions hall. For the past eight years the facilities of the hall have been made available to the students' union for all of their parties, banquets and achievement days in home economics and industrial arts. Beginning next year the events will be held in the auditorium of the new school.

The students and staff of the Didsbury high school wish to pay tribute of appreciation to the Lions Club for the courtesy extended to them over the past eight years. Without the co-operation of this service club the social events of this school would have been greatly curtailed.

Robert Nimmons Dies In Tractor Accident

A tragic accident which took the life of Robert Nimmons, aged 36, occurred in the Westerdale district, northwest of Didsbury, last Saturday afternoon. The victim, home on a 14-day spring leave from the air force station at Penhold, was working in the yard with a tractor when it became mired in mud. In attempting to free the tractor with poles it suddenly toppled backwards and pinned him underneath. The steering column crushed his chest.

Mr. Nimmons' wife and 12-year-old son witnessed the accident and immediately summoned neighbors to assist but a wrecking truck from Didsbury had to be used before the body could be extricated.

Authorities have announced that there will be no inquest.

Born near here in 1917, LAC Nimmons lived on a farm until 1939 when he enlisted in the Calgary Highlanders. He served in Canada and overseas with the regiment, transferring to the R.C.C.S. before the end of World War II. After the war he returned to the farm and enlisted in the R.C.A.F. in 1952.

His wife, Irene, and son, Lorne survive as well as a brother and two sisters.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at Penhold station with full military honors, followed by services at Westerdale United Church. Padre Ritchie and Rev. C. C. Armstrong officiated and interment took place in the Westerdale cemetery.

VICTORIA DAY, MAY 24th, CELEBRATED ON MONDAY

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Next Monday, May 24, is Victoria Day, the first holiday of the summer season, and all offices and most places of business in the town will be closed.

As usual Monday is a difficult day for The Pioneer staff to take off and we would appreciate having news budgets and advertising as early as possible for our next issue. If we are a little late you'll know we were waiting for copy.

We might also mention here that effective May 1st stores in Didsbury remain open until 9 p.m. each Saturday evening.

21 Homeless In Calgary Fire

Twenty-one persons were left homeless early Monday morning when a fire gutted a small frame house in the Nose Creek area of Calgary.

The one-storey building, roughly measuring 30 by 20 feet, housed three families and several individuals. It was believed to have been erected in 1905.

The homeless were provided with tents by the Red Cross and set up a temporary camp along the river bank.

There were eight persons, including a mother and five children in the front portion of the house, which was completely destroyed when the blaze broke out at 4:15 a.m.

Fire department officials believe the fire began in the veranda and swept back over the house. It was reported that one of the residents while leaving the house during the night accidentally threw a lighted cigarette on some trash in the veranda to start the fire.

MR. AND MRS. AUSTIN MENTIONED ON CBC PROGRAM

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Austin, who are leaving shortly to take up residence in the west coast, were the prominent names mentioned on the Neighbourly News program coming out of Winnipeg over CBC last Sunday morning. Just so we can take a spot of credit for the broadcast, Mr. Green received his information for the broadcast through the columns of The Pioneer.

He moved, and the House of Commons quickly accepted that an "humble address" be presented to her in recognition of the success of her round-the-world tour of the Empire's outposts and to assure her an "affectionate welcome home."

Churchill Pays Tribute Prime Minister Winston Churchill rose to some of his old time speechmaking glory Monday to pay tribute to the young Queen whom he loves so much.

Notes From D.A.

By Hugh McPhail

Now, more than ever before, it is important to put more land into forage crops. At present, we have very serious surpluses of cereals but our lands are being depleted and we will be faced with short crops in the near future again. Now is the time to start a proper rotation and put at least one-third of your farm into forage crops. Legumes will restore fertility and grasses fibre that will help prevent erosion.

Through our Crop Improvement Association I have been distributing seed for "Demonstration Pastures," and for seed production for several years.

Last year I published a list of over 30 farmers who had gotten seed in 1952. Following this is a list of over 40 farmers who got seed last year and will have "demonstration plots" this year. I hope you will be able to observe some of them.

An outline was given for the spring rally, which will be held at Claresholm, Monday, May 24. Didsbury was asked to take the opening devotion.

The annual elections were held with the following results: president, Werner Reinhardt; vice-president, Myron Gebers; secretary, Lilly Reinhardt; treasurer, Walter Artman.

It was agreed to paint the pastor's new study. Otto Bartz volunteered to be in charge of this project. A floor covering has also been purchased for the study.

Much Cheaper Than War!

Someone has complained about the amount of talk that goes on at United Nations. But talk is cheaper than war. A hundred years ago in the Crimean War it cost $700 for every British soldier landed in Russia and $175 for every 10-inch shell fired at Sevastopol.

Sixty years later in the First World War those figures looked like chicken feed. Some of the bigger shells fired then and at targets of less significance than Sevastopol, cost the taxpayers thousands of dollars and the direct cost of the four-year conflict for Canada alone is now estimated at $1,695,958,569.

But, that again turned out to be almost trivial when the bills were added up for the Second World War. This cost Canada more than 12 times as much, or $21,786,077,519, to be exact.

WHEAT POOL PAYMENT

The Alberta Wheat is making a distribution of cash payments totaling $587,000, this being a patronage dividend on deliveries by members to the Alberta Pool Elevator during the 1952-53 season. A further $1,907,000 is being credited to such member patrons in the form of Wheat Pool reserves.

Cheques were mailed out to Alberta Pool Elevator agents who distribute them amongst the Pool's 36,000 member patrons.

The basis of this payment is 4½ cents a bushel on wheat, with 1 cent in cash and the balance in reserves; and on coarse grains and flax 2½ cents a bushel, and 1 cent of which is in cash.

Since its inception the Alberta Wheat Pool has paid patronage dividends totalling $15,797,000. Of this amount, $6,256,000 has been in cash and $9,541,000 in the form of reserves.

It is with the reserves that the ownership of the Alberta Wheat Wheat Pool rests. A plan of revolving these reserves is being followed so that ownership will always remain in the hands of operating farmers.

The Joke Box ?

A farmer who sent for a book entitled "How to Grow Tomatoes" wrote to the publisher: "The man who wrote the ad shoulda writ the book."

When the little boy started to school, his mother told him to put on a fresh pair of socks every day. He did. At the end of the week his shoes would hardly fit.

And then there was the girl who discovered she wasn't the only pebble on the beach, so she got a little bolder.

Zeke was dead. A wonderful funeral was in progress. The minister talked at length on the good traits of the departed one, what an honest man he had been, what an excellent provider, what a loving husband and kind father. At last the widow whispered to one of her offspring, "Go up there and take a look in that coffin and see if that's your pa."

The average miss is not so much concerned with what a man stands for as what he will fall for.

A painter fell off the scaffold with a pot of paint—he came down with flying colors.

TAXLESS ALBERTA?

Recently Premier Manning suggested that soon government revenue from oil and natural gas might be used to wipe out all municipal taxes in Alberta. A group of Canadians were asked what they thought of the idea, and most of them were not impressed because:

These taxes won't last forever; the current generation is obligated to help pay for future as well as current bills and do what it can to enhance as well as protect the heritage it got and will hand down.

Such taxation relief would not be equitable; rural residents and renters would not share equally. It would strip municipalities of autonomy and incentive.

Alternative uses for the bonanza are suggested as: a reserve to meet contingencies; advancement of social relations, resources and services; on capital account.

THERE'S JUST SOMETHING . . .

If I should leave these envelopes of seeds Unopened and forgotten on the shelf.

I'd save a season's war on bugs and weeds.

And keep a lot of leisure for myself.

As soon as I have dropped them in the soil

And cover them the thickness that is right,

I'm in for busy days of sweat and toil.

And anxious hours every chilly night.

It would be much easier.

I know.

To buy my vegetables and save all this.

But something in me likes to see things grow.

And think of all the sunshine I would miss!

NATURE'S OWN SWEET PACE

There is one thing about the about the weather, no one can do anything to change it. We can stand aside in wonder, and maybe cuss a bit at times, but no human force has been strong enough to hurry or retard the relation of the seasons.

This is indeed a late spring, but it is very evident that the leaves will be fully out by May 24th, which is average.

Practically no farm work has been done yet, but even last year the records show that seeding did not start till May 14th. There was a record crop here. Makes no difference how warm the weather gets, the grass doesn't lift up from the roots until the spring rains come. This was amply demonstrated a week ago Tuesday.

Seems as if we recall a promise in the Bible: "while the earth remaineth, seed time and harvest shall not fail."

The Need For The H Bomb

A few weeks ago military authorities in the United States arranged for the explosion of a hydrogen bomb over an island in the South Pacific ocean. It was demonstrated that the bomb has destructive power beyond conception. From various parts of the free world has come criticism of the United States, not only for going so far as to develop an instrument of such vast destructive powers, but also for trying it out on a Pacific island.

The same critics are strangely silent about what is going on in Soviet Russia in the way of developing and exploding atomic bombs. It is known that, through the treasury of some of the outstanding scientists in the democratic countries, and through the connivance of captured German scientists, Soviet Russia has developed and exploded atomic bombs. But there are no accounts in Russian newspapers of the explosion and no one in that vast nation, or its satellites dare criticize the government's action in that field.

Winston Churchill delivered a speech at Fulton, Missouri, a few years ago in the course of which he declared that the possession of the secret of the atomic bomb by the United States was the only factor which prevented Soviet Russia overrunning the entire continent of Europe. At that time Russia had not developed a bomb.

If the situation was reversed today and Russia had a store of atomic bombs and the United States did not have any, the cause of freedom in the world would be hopeless. Russian communism would envelop mankind.

That would mean that in no nation would people be permitted free elections, free speech, freedom of religion, or the right to hold property. The Russian supreme council would have complete power over the whole human race. Secret police would see to it that the recalcitrant people were sent to anguish in jails or in exile in some unsupportable area, or possibly meet with torture and death without any recourse of law and justice.

The puerile souls who lift their screams of anguish against the action of the United States in perfecting the hydrogen bomb, either do not understand the impact of stupendous world events and affairs, or else are pitiful dupes of Soviet Russia.

Here Is The Farmer's Problem

A recent survey has asked for an analysis of the farmers' problems. Here is one version:

The good farmer's ambition is to hold his land, and to hold it under conditions that make it profitable for him to operate it, and profitable for society to allow him to do so.

All the land in the world belongs to the human race. The land of a country belongs to its inhabitants.

In countries west of the Iron curtain, society allows the farmers to own their land because it believes that, as owners, they will make better use of it than they would as tenants or hired workers. But private ownership of land imposes obligations that must be respected. It obliges the farmer to supply food to the people, and to maintain the fertility of the soil.

It also obliges society to protect the farmer in his possession of the land, and to maintain conditions under which he can be suitably rewarded for his toil. But there are other people in the world besides farmers. There are hand workers, machine operators, clerks, merchants, professional men, and a host of others whose interests must not be forgotten, for they also have a right to dwell on the earth.

Many of these, and the farmers also, are organized into groups for the promotion of their own interests, and some of these groups have become very powerful. The two most powerful occupational groups in Canada are organized labor and farmers. Both these groups are powerful enough to command the respect of governments and parliaments; and neither of them hesitates to ask for legislation it thinks would benefit its particular interests.

The farmers ask for monopolistic control of markets for their products with power to fix prices on a cost plus basis, and to impose penalties on those who sell elsewhere. Labor demands compulsory union membership and payment of dues, and wages based on the desires of the workers, regardless of the value of their work.

But higher wages for labor mean higher prices for products; and higher prices for the things the farmer has to buy mean higher operating costs on the farm. And higher operating costs on the farm, if followed by higher prices for farm products, would lead to higher living costs for the wage earners.

If these two groups were equally successful in getting what they want, neither of them would be able to buy any more of the other's products than he was before they started. The spiral of rising wages and rising prices. But they have not been equally successful. Labor has been able to extract more from its employers than the farmers have from the consumers. Consequently the farmer now pays more for what he buys; but he has less with which to pay it.

He is beginning to learn that farm prices can't be controlled as completely as wages are controlled by the unions. Today he finds that his prices are coming down while wage rates are still going up, and the unions are marshaling their forces to demand that these higher rates be guaranteed the whole year through, whether there is any work to be done or not. The farmer is alarmed at this prospect, or at least he ought to be.

When the spiral of wages and prices was getting under way, a shrewd observer was asked if he thought it would finally lead to the collapse of agriculture in Canada. He replied: "There will be more danger of a collapse of urban industry; and if that happens, agriculture will be reduced to the necessity of scratching the ground for a living."

The burdens with which Canadian industry is being saddled by the demands of labor and of governments, are such that unless something is done to stop it, industry is likely to collapse. If labor is too blind or too wilful to see where its present policies are leading, the farmers, in their own interests, should vigorously oppose these demands that are becoming a common threat to the whole Canadian economy.

The greatest obstacle in the way of achieving this, is the high cost of Canadian labor. The farmer's own weakness is that he is allowing visions of high prices to blind his judgment to the realities of the situation, and is wasting his energies running after the gold at the foot of the rainbow, when he should be fighting against the excessive demands of the labor unions.

Some years ago a book was entitled, "I Am A Fugitive From A Chain Gang." Some wit had to remark that he was "a fugitive from a chain store." Nowadays there is occasion to say, "I am a fugitive from a chain letter."

To my personal knowledge quite a number of citizens have received several of these commencing as follows: "the original of this came from (Utopia). Read Matthew 17:20 in the Bible. The luck of it has been sent around the world five times. The one who breaks this chain will have bad luck."

This particular type of chain letter does not request money, but promises good luck if the conditions are fulfilled, and bad luck if conditions are broken. A certain general is supposed to have received $6000.00 only to lose it after breaking this chain.

Very few take these letters seriously, even though they are illegal. To pass them on to someone else may seem no great offence against the laws of the land, and incidentally swells the revenue of the P.O. department.

But to prostitute the Scriptures is something else again. The Bible is sacred literature, the Holy Scripture, and to use it as a come-on, as a good-luck charm, is a serious perversion and most irreverent. Whatever we think of chain letters in general, one is moved to protest against something that is both illegal and downright sacrilegious.

Matthew 17:20 concerned the amazing power of faith to accomplish things that seem utterly impossible. These miserable chain letters ask you to do a small thing rather than to believe in a great God, which is precisely the opposite to the teaching of Matt. 17:20. It is an evidence of superstition rather than trust in the supernatural and there is a most profound difference between them.

While on the subject, I might as well say something about the philosophy of luck. To wish a person good luck is no great compliment to their ability or true worth. Indeed, it may indicate that you believe

DISTRICT NEWS

M.V.B.C. NEWS

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Rev. and Mrs. Taylor and family were in Calgary on Sunday, where the former was guest speaker in the Alliance Tabernacle, in the absence of their pastor, Rev. Cunningham, in both morning and evening services. Misses Edith and Marion Sherrick accompanied them, and with Mrs. Taylor sang a number of trios in the two services.

The Living Endowment League, started some months ago, has reached a membership of 110 persons. There may be those in this community who would like to join also. You may do so upon the payment of ten dollars per unit, and you will be given a beautifully embossed certificate of membership. The purpose of the league is to meet working expenses of the college, for no college can run on income from the students. The objective is 200 members by September. Join now! Phone 266 or 201 if you are interested.

Should any friends of the community decide to donate some eggs we would be glad to receive them and put them away for winter use here.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Eby were guests of Miss Gladys Eby for Sunday dinner.

The Junior Choir of the United Missionary Church will practice in the College Chapel this week under the direction of Mr. Neil Neufeld. These fine young singers will be heard on the Good News Radio Program of the College and Church on occasions.

Edward Oke will accompany President Taylor in special services on a number of the pastorates of the conference this summer. He will not only serve as minister but will sing as well. Edward completed his first year of work in the college and received the highest grade point average among the students.

Rev. and Mrs. Taylor were the recipients of a cash donation that made it possible to redecorate their front room and entrance. Mr. Taylor completed painting it last week. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Eby helped paper part of the room. Gifts of this nature are surely appreciated.

In the fall two apartments are being planned for Miss Eby and Mrs. Suder. At the end of the third building a small class room will also be arranged. This will require considerable work and expenditure. You may want to help make these apartments as what they ought to be for these teachers who have spent so many years in this college. Mrs. Suder has taught here for seven years and Miss Eby fifteen.

Miss Mary Walsh has returned from the coast and is spending a few days in the college to finish up some of the work she has planned before she leaves for the summer.

MEAT CONSUMPTION

In 1953 Canadians consumed 744,400,000 pounds of beef or the equivalent of 1,469,000 cattle. In addition, another 82 million pounds was consumed as veal. On a per capita basis this amounted to 56 pounds and represented an increase in beef consumption of 17 per cent.

While beef and veal consumption was up, the amount of pork eaten by Canadians dropped 26 per cent. A total of 744,800,000 pounds of pork or 50 pounds per capita was consumed.

Lamb and mutton consumption amounted to only 24 million pounds or less than two pounds per person.

A government investigation disclosed the washwomen had substituted their work... and paid their substitutes less than they got themselves.

"THANKS"

With our Play-at-Home Car Bingo now drawn to a successful conclusion, the members of the Olds Elks Lodge would like to express their sincere thanks to everyone who supported the effort through the purchase of one or more Bingo cards.

The effort has been an outstanding success and the Lodge and its members are sincerely gratified and assure the public that the funds obtained will be used in the best way possible to carry on the benevolent work of the Elks Lodge in Olds.

THE WINNERS

We are pleased to announce that the winners of the Elks Play-at-Home Bingo have formed a syndicate and have taken joint ownership of the 1954 Chevrolet. Those holding the winning cards were: Mrs. Oscar Truhart of Olds, Card No. 5198; Eaton and Sturgeon, Olds, No. 505; Vic Kilpatrick, Olds, No. 591.

The cards held by these persons were checked in Olds on May 17, 1954 and as they had formed a syndicate there will be no payoff as previously announced.

Thanks again, and we'll be seeing you.
